

Educator Day II

All-Day FREE GIS Workshop - Duluth

The Minnesota Department of Education and the Minnesota GIS/LIS Consortium would like to invite K12 teachers, both public and nonpublic, and administrators to Educator Day II at the Duluth Entertainment and Convention Center, 350 Harbor Drive, Duluth, MN. This event will be held Wednesday, October 26, 2016 from 9:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Teachers and Administrators attending will learn about ArcGIS Online mapping resource tools that are available FREE to all schools. This event will include training sessions, break-outs, learning sessions, breaks, snacks and lunch. This year's luncheon speaker will be Gina Hollinday, a high school teacher from Duluth Denfeld, and two of her students, winners in Minnesota's first student GIS Mapping Competition last spring. Up to seven CEUs will be available for teachers AND administrators. Substitute reimbursement is available if needed.

Discover the basics of using ArcGIS Online in your classroom. If you are a GIS user already, then you may be interested in intermediate and some advanced techniques. Story Maps are all the rage so let's learn more about how they are developed. What is Survey123 and how can teachers and students use it to collect and map data? There will be sessions presented by teachers and professionals for both beginning and advanced ArcGIS Online users and specific sessions on Story Maps, Web Apps, ORG accounts, Geo-Inquiries, Crowd-Sourced maps and Curriculum topics. The schedule provides opportunities to collaborate with other teachers and GIS professionals on projects for the classroom. Here is your chance to learn about ArcGIS Online, collaborate with other teachers, both public and nonpublic, mingle and develop mentor opportunities with GIS professionals that could last years.
